

2-6-1862

Letter from William McKinney to His Aunt, February 6, 1862

William M. McKinney

Follow this and additional works at: http://corescholar.libraries.wright.edu/special_ms92_correspond

Repository Citation

McKinney, W. M. (1862). Letter from William McKinney to His Aunt, February 6, 1862. .

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Wallace Family Papers (MS-92) at CORE Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Wallace Correspondence by an authorized administrator of CORE Scholar. For more information, please contact corescholar@www.libraries.wright.edu.

Camp Whipple Feb 6th 1861

My very dear Aunt,

Some of the 3rd inst was brought on while partaking of my sumptuous supper of hot coffee, light rolls, fried potatoes, and beef steak, all gotten into eating order by the aforesaid "contraband". All further operations were immediately suspended until after the perusal of the epistle. Indeed, I experienced more pleasure, than in the perusal of a Morning Paper, containing the particulars of a recently fought battle, at the breakfast table in a splendid dining saloon, Alton! Yours is the first letter (except those I found here on my arrival) I have received since my return from my travels in North America, and you may well imagine a foreigner would greet the first reliable news from his native country, gladly. The fact is, I had commenced thinking my visit to my friends had proved rather disastrous to my correspondence, supposing, that since

... they had caught sight up, but met, being
... acquainted with the aforesaid
... had concluded he was not the
... but that his further acquaintance
... had better be
... perhaps the chance
... old friend when you next visit
... are entire groundless
... I do indeed hope so, particularly on account of the manner I bear for the ...

It does seem a very long time since I left the Editor of our ...
well
I am very, very sorry, indeed I am sorry I so grievous my dear
... of our ...
... that little indiscretion of mine; it does seem like the dear old Lady has ... will never entirely recover from the effects.

I hope I will not have to be accountable for any decline in her health on account thereof.
Indeed she is very pathetic over it, even very eloquent, I almost shed tears over the recital of the terrible "rubber" and wrong that had been committed by the "atrocious villain", Periwinkle.
I should think the man, indeed, bridled in crime, that could commit such a deed