Mrs. M. McClellan Brown,
818 Hutchins Ave.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Brown:-

I have letter on my desk dated February ¹³~~27~~th, written on your letter-head which isn't signed. I take it though it must be from you because it is from a suffragist and from the International Order of Good Templars.

Now I do not know whether the plans are going to be carried out as the Ohio Woman proposed or not, but if you will write to Mrs. Wm. Neil King, Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Columbus, Ohio, she will tell you when the train is going to start and all about it. It seems that Miss Quinby, the Editor of the Ohio Woman, planned for a special train and promised five hundred marchers and a whole lot of things which she couldn't deliver. Miss Quinby means right I think but she is vissionary and she never begins to carry out the things she says she will do. However, Mrs. King will know things. The B.& O is the road upon which our train was to run and the negotiations have been made with that road. I think the fare from Columbus is going to be $16.00, but as I say you had better write to Mrs. King in regard to this.

If we do have the special train or the special car I do hope we can all get together. I want to go on that train and I am going to meet it at Pittsburg.

Your letter did not arrive until Saturday and I could not get at the mail yesterday, Sunday, so I am writing as quick as I can today. I hope this will be early enough.

Very cordially yours,

Harriet Taylor Watson

P.S. I see on re-reading that I did not say I was awfully glad to think that there might be ten or twelve Cincinnati people in that parade. Won't that be splendid?
