Differentiated Learning

Enrichment Activity:

- Using the Web site listed above, distribute "The Emigrants Guide to California and Oregon" (Document 1 in the Web site) and ask the students to follow along as you read it to the class. Ask students to assume one of the following roles and record a journal entry, dated 1845, explaining Hasting’s guide to Emigrants.
  1. A worker in a New England factory
  2. A merchant involved in foreign trade
  3. A shopkeeper
  4. A farmer who owns a small farm in Western Pennsylvania

Additional Instruction:

- Convene a public forum in which the selected spokesperson, assuming the role of the author of the documents, delivers a short speech, summarizing the reading for the entire class. Open the forum to questions from the class. Students should relate questions to Manifest Destiny to specific individuals on the panel, the other members of the panel are free to respond, (the panel should be those students who really grasped the concept of Manifest Destiny and would be able to explain it better to those students who did not catch it the first time.)

Informal Assessment

Teachers can create their own assessment based on the lesson content.

Differentiated Learning

Enrichment Activity:

- Have students write a summary from the point of a person believing in Manifest Destiny in 1848.
- Do Americans still believe in Manifest Destiny today? Does America stretch from sea to shining sea? What other land do we believe is destined to be a part of America? Is the quest for space travel and landing on the moon also our Manifest Destiny? Explain.
- Give students copies of Worksheet #4-3, Looking for Perspectives and Credibility. Using the biographical information on Tojeiti and your discussions of the painting, have students complete the worksheet and discuss it. If this is the first time you've done something like this with your class, I would suggest doing it together. On the other hand, if you've done similar types of thinking with students, they could work on it in groups of three or four.
- Show an overhead of Patricia Limerick's commentary on the ways Euro-Americans viewed the culture of American Indians, Resource #4-4. This is a secondary source.
• An interesting point of discussion is: What does "using the land properly" mean? What are the different points of view on that question, and why do people feel that way? What are the qualities of civilization and savagery? Are they exclusive? Can they overlap? Do Limerick's thoughts fit with the values and beliefs of Manifest Destiny? Why? Why not? You may want to discuss with your students space travel and who would "own" planets, moons, etc.

Additional Instruction:
• Explain the meaning of the word Manifest (clear or obvious) and Destiny (sure to happen).
• Explain that many felt the United States had the right to expand to the Pacific.

Geography:

| D. Explain reasons that people, Products, and ideas move from place to place and the effects of that movement on geographic patterns: |
| 3. Explain how colonization, westward expansion, immigration and advances in transportation and communication changed geographic patterns in the United States. |

Differentiated Learning

Enrichment Activity:

- Have students’ list material and supplies that might be needed for such a journey.
- Introduce students to the story of Marcus and Narcissa Whitman, the first settlers to make the overland journey to Oregon. Extensive excerpts from Narcissa Whitman's Diary are available through EDSITEment at the New Perspectives on THE WEST Web site - http://www.pbs.org/weta/thewest/, which also includes a synopsis of the Whitman's tragic experiences taken from the PBS documentary series, The West.
- Invite students to contrast the emigrant experience with that of the 49ers who followed the Oregon Trail on their way to the goldfields of California. Reminiscences of gold rush days are available on the Web sites http://www.pbs.org/weta/thewest/program/episodes/three/daysof49.htm, http://memory.loc.gov/ammem/cbhtml/cbhome.html, and http://www.museumca.org/goldrush.html.

Additional Instruction:

- Discuss with students the physical risk of the journey, fatigue, accidents and storms. Use the journals to write about daily life. Journals should include people they might meet, sights, adventures and hazards.
- Have students travel on the Oregon Trail through the computer game version. Available through DPS Media Services.
Informal Assessment

Teachers can create their own assessment based on the lesson content.

Differentiated Learning

Enrichment Activity:

- Discuss or make a list of rights that women had and a list of rights they did not have during that particular time period. Discuss.

- Have students research the history of the women’s rights movement in America and discuss the role that other suffragists played. For example, Lucretia Mott, Anna Howard Shaw, Carrie Chapman Catt or others could be studied.

Additional Instruction:

- Have the students make a time line of the important events that have been part of the struggle for women’s rights since 1848-1920. Next to each event write its importance to the women’s movement.

| Citizenship Rights and Responsibilities:
B. Identify historical origins that influenced the rights U.S. citizens have today:
3. Evaluate the role of historical figures and political bodies in furthering and restricting the rights of individuals including
e. Elizabeth Cady Stanton and women's rights.
| Core Activity
On July 16, 1848, five women, including Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott, met here to draft what they called the "Declaration of Sentiments." Learn why a family home in upstate New York became the site for the creation of one of the most important documents in the history of American women.

Differentiated Learning

Enrichment Activity:
- Have students research a woman or man at the convention. After learning of their biography, students create a scene and put together different "women" they have chosen to create a scene or play from the convention.

Additional Instruction:
- Ask students to write a letter from a woman or man at the Seneca Falls Convention to her sister in which she describes the convention and explains why women's rights are important.
- With a partner, design a banner to be displayed at the Seneca Falls Convention. Make a clever and attractive design that expresses feelings of early women's rights crusaders. Include a brief slogan. Banners should contain who, what, when, where information about the convention.

Core Activity
A freshman Whig Congressman from Illinois, Abraham Lincoln, questioned whether the “spot” where blood had been shed was really U.S. soil, an event which started the war with Mexico.

Interdisciplinary Connections
Language Arts

Differentiated Learning

Enrichment Activity:
- Ask students to read and summarize the eight resolutions.
- Analyze Lincoln’s Spot Resolutions. Was that land clearly American soil, why or why not?
- Do you believe that the Mexican War was illegally started? Explain.
- Review the main idea statement in your textbook. As a result of the Mexican War, the U.S. expanded its borders to the Pacific Ocean. Write a paragraph or two summarizing how the Mexican War helped the U.S. expand.

Additional Instruction:
- Use the Web site as a directive to further instruction.
- Students should prepare to hold a press conference on the Mexican War. Assign one student to each of these roles: James Polk, Zachary Taylor, Winfield Scott, Steven Kearny, John Fremont, General Santa Anna, a Mexican American, and a Native American. The rest of the class can be reporters who will ask the rest of the characters questions about the war.
