WSU Administrator in Office

ENTER: Big Wheel Freshman out to charm and persuade

- S- Good Morning, Sir. My name is Monty-Monty Blanc and I'm here to ask you to reconsider your decision about my admission.
- A- I see. (Double take). You mean there was someone we didn't admit!
- S- No exactly. I've been admitted. But, you see, I was hon for a football scholarship. Something to make it worth my while to come here.
- A- Well - hem haw - hem has (plays with glasses or pipe). You see we don't give football scholarships, Mr -----
- S- Blank. Shucks, I guess you've heard of my father. I don't like to trade on his reputation-but you know what they call him down at NCP - Mr. Big - yep, Big-Blank - Vice President in charge of Public Relations.
- A- I see. One of the Big Boys. Well perhaps we can get you a scholarship-but not in football. We don't have intercollegiate sports of any kind.
- S- Oh-come one, I read the Jr. Herald, too. - I mean what's the real story. I can wait a month or 2 while the public watches the national election scramble. All I want is an official, unofficial promise.
- A- Well, really! (aside) This Babe knows all about the woods.
- S- I'm great. You should have seen me tackle at Fairmount W? I'm great on the right flank, the left flank, the front end and the rear end. I'm one of those "all around" types, you know.
- A- I know! I know! But officially, I can't make any decision on sports. That's up to the committee.
- S- But there's only two weeks before the term starts. Harvard is waiting to hear from me. And you know how they feel about me at state. - $2,000 a year and all privileges, of a quarterback.
- A- Perhaps you ought to take it.
- S- But sir, frankly, I'd rather have the prestige of attending Wright State University. Besides, Freshmen aren't allowed to have cars and I couldn't live without my Jag - But the way, sir, I meant to ask about those medical parking stickers.
- A- What about them?

S- Well, honest, I got a bad back- you see how this shoulder hunches up?
I can get a doctor to certify it.

A- I thought you were a football star!

S- You bet - (inspired) It's my secret strategy. I fake like I'm hurt in the back-then I pound 'em in the guts. I'm great, you'll see. Wait til the committee sees me.

A- You mean you want to tell the committee about your back?

S- Well, that's not necessary.

T- I'll show you the group so you'll know what I'm up against-
