Wright State University will launch a new series of open forums with a dialogue on the Wright State Research Institute (WSRI) and the Wright State Applied Research Corporation (WSARC):

Tuesday, October 3

11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Student Union Apollo Room

The "Let's Talk" forum is open to the campus community and the public. It will be streamed live for those who cannot attend in person at wright.edu/streaming.

Panelists include Dennis Andersh, executive director of WSRI and chief executive officer of WSARC; Timothy Broderick, chief scientist, professor of surgery, and associate dean for research affairs at the Boonshoft School of Medicine; Eric Bennett, chair and professor of neuroscience, cell biology, and physiology; and C.D. Moore, Wright State, WSRI, and WSARC board of trustees member.

Following short presentations from the panel members, campus constituents can ask questions in a town hall setting moderated by Wright State President Cheryl B. Schrader.

Part of President Schrader's focus on campus conversation, "Let's Talk" will allow the Wright State community to discuss one issue or theme at the university. The goal of the series is to create a safe space for open, informed discussion while providing the community with accurate information and perspective.

Suggestions from the university community for future discussion are welcome and can be made on the Office of President's webpage.
