Chair's Message

I just returned from a trip to Ireland and England. One of the highlights of the trip was a visit to the Royal College of Surgeons in London. The Knife Man is an excellent book about the life of John Hunter (1728-1793). He focused on the importance of anatomy in surgery, and his extensive collection of comparative anatomy specimens is housed in a museum there. There is also a historical surgical instrument collection. A painting of Henry VIII and the Barber-Surgeons dominates the college meeting room. I encourage you to visit there if you are in London!

Recruitment

We are recruiting for a minimally invasive surgeon. If you know of an appropriate candidate, please contact Kim Paul at kim.paul@wrightstatephysicians.org.

WSU Boonshoft School of Medicine Graduation Ceremony

Faculty

An ATLS course was held on June 16-17, 2015, at Miami Valley Hospital. Drs. Bini and McCarthy were the course directors.

Wright State Physicians

Dr. Hendershot will be joining the faculty at the University of Alabama as the associate program director. The Department of Surgery wishes her well in her new position! She will be missed.

Amanda Carson's position has been restructured to senior accountant and revenue cycle supervisor, effective July 1. She will assume responsibility for the billing functions and supervision of the billing staff in orthopaedics and surgery, and will continue to split her time between the two departments.

Over the last several months in particular, Amanda has become more intimately involved in our billing processes and has engaged in some great projects with our billers and coders. In most organizations, revenue cycle management is part of finance, and while our corporate office is in the process of restructuring itself to follow this best practice, we've already moved in that direction in ortho and surgery and are glad to be the "pilot" for the organization. Amanda joined Wright State Physicians in 2013. Dr. Marco is excited to see where we are with our revenue cycle management a year from now, and I have every confidence Amanda is up to the task of helping us get there! Congratulations Amanda!
