My Kind of People

My kind of people choose where they will eat by the coupons they have,
Watch to see if the person at the register really rings up the right price,
And take the extra straws and napkins with them when they leave,
My kind of people shop at some of the city's finest garage sales,
Ask the seller, "What's the lowest price you'll take,"
And brag about how little they paid for something.
My kind of people wear work clothes every day,
Save their best clothes for good,
And use old clothes for rags,
My kind of people use it up,
Wear it out, make do,
Or do without.
