Chair's Message

I suddenly became aware of the circle of surgery (life) when my daughter Alison, who is going into general surgery, matched at Indiana University and said, "Mom, I'm going to be an intern!" I had flashbacks to my own internship at Parkland Memorial Hospital, University of Texas – Southwestern. I am returning there in July to give the Distinguished Alumnus Lecture on Women in Surgery. Then I will participate in a leadership symposium on "Who Wants to be a Surgery Department Chair?" and the American College of Surgeons. This is a wonderful career, and I am privileged to share in the lives of patients and the lives of our students and residents. Best wishes for the next steps in your careers!

Staff

Please welcome Michael Snider, PA-C, to the Department of Surgery, Surgical Oncology Division. Mike earned his undergraduate degree in mechanical engineering from Ohio State and his Master's of Physician Assistant Studies at Kettering College. His previous work experience involves pharmaceutical manufacturing and health care administration. His clinical practice experience includes emergency medicine and spine surgery. Personal experience drives his dedication to delivering the highest value of medical care in the clinical setting, while also volunteering his service in the fast-changing health care climate as an active board member of the Ohio Association of Physician Assistants. In his free time, he enjoys being with family, physical conditioning, creative projects, and traveling. Michael can be reached at michael.snider@wrightstatephysicians.org. Please introduce yourself the next time you see Mike!

Please welcome Erin Smith, PA-C, to the Department of Surgery, Surgical Oncology Division. Erin received her Bachelor's of Biology from Ohio Northern University and her Master's of Physician Assistant Studies from Shenandoah University in Winchester, Virginia. She previously practiced in burn/wound care and family practice. She also works as adjunct faculty with the University of Dayton Physician Assistant program helping to train the next generation of Physician Assistants. She lives in Bellbrook with her husband and dog. In her free time, Erin enjoys traveling and spending time with family and friends. Erin can be reached at erin.smith@wrightstatephysicians.org. Please introduce yourself the next time you see Erin!
