10-27-1971

The Guardian, October 27, 1971

Wright State University Student Body

Follow this and additional works at: https://corescholar.libraries.wright.edu/guardian

Part of the Mass Communication Commons

Repository Citation

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Student Activities at CORE Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Guardian Student Newspaper by an authorized administrator of CORE Scholar. For more information, please contact library-corescholar@wright.edu.
Placement Office secures jobs for students.

BY TOM SNYDER

Placement Office secures jobs for students, as part of the Place-ment office. Call the Placement office now.

Creative Arts Center solves problems for art, music, theatre departments.

IN TOM SNYDER

The Creative Arts Center solves problems for art, music, theatre departments.

Satire begins tomorrow.

BY JOANNE THIEL

Satire begins tomorrow.

Halloween spectacular planned at Center: dinner, film, popcorn offered students.

A STUDENT PUBLICATION

GUARDIAN

Articles on Bolinga Center stir controversy. CABU, Student Government claim quotes, facts erroneous.

Women's Liberation Supplement Inside
letters to the editor

Editorial "irresponsible"

Dear Editor,

I thought "October 17th" was the last time I would use the word "irresponsible" in the same sentence as "the student government." I doubt either of us thought the word would apply to the student government. It is becoming a running joke among editors, and I think that we can all agree that it is a necessary joke.

The student government has set a precedent now. Through their active efforts to get rid of the political science center, they have proven that they can use the tactics of the political science center to get rid of anything they don't like. This is a very dangerous trend.

I urge the student government to reconsider their actions. They have a responsibility to the students of Wright State University, and they should not take lightly the task of deciding what is best for the students. I hope that they will listen to the students and the administration before making any decisions.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

China switch alters US dominion of UN forces recognition of socialist success

China's 21 year old mask performing the myth that China Kai-zhek was the leader of 700 million Chinese, was finally ripped away in a US vote to seat the Nationalists and instate the People's Republic of China in their place Monday night.

For too long the United States has played a dangerous and childish political game of ignoring mainland China and its leaders. Our recent change of policy toward China does not come from a change of politics, but from the embarrassing awareness that a socialist government has successfully governed one third of the world's population. China is one of the most progressive countries in the world today.

Last week's visit to the US by two recent visitors to China entailed a number of events that speak of a world wide trend, a trend away from capitalism, from exploitation that exploits man by man.

Taiwan's population. China is one of the most progressive countries in the world today. China in their place Monday night.

The trend is set, man is moving, and no country, no race, no political faction can stop him. Taiwan's 21 year old mask perforating the myth that Chiang Kai-shek was the leader of 700 million Chinese, was finally ripped away in a US vote to seat the Nationalists and instate the People's Republic of China in their place Monday night.

Chairman of the editorial board and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or the staff of the GUARDIAN.

Valerie Burrows, reporter

Rick Phillips, reporter

Richard Vansteenkiste, adviser

World's population. China is one of the most progressive countries in the world today.

The trend is set, man is moving, and no country, no race, no political faction can stop him. Taiwan's 21 year old mask perforating the myth that Chiang Kai-shek was the leader of 700 million Chinese, was finally ripped away in a US vote to seat the Nationalists and instate the People's Republic of China in their place Monday night.

Chairman of the editorial board and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or the staff of the GUARDIAN.

Valerie Burrows, reporter

Rick Phillips, reporter

Richard Vansteenkiste, adviser

If Taiwan's election were to take place now, it is clear that Chiang Kai-shek would not get the majority of the votes. The Nationalist government has been in power for 21 years, but it is clear that the people of Taiwan do not want to stay out.

There are many reasons why the Nationalist government has not been able to win the support of the people of Taiwan. One reason is that the Nationalist government has been unable to provide the people of Taiwan with the goods and services that they need. Another reason is that the Nationalist government has been unable to provide the people of Taiwan with the political freedom that they need.

In conclusion, it is clear that the people of Taiwan do not want to stay out. They want to be a part of the world. They want to be able to vote for the leader of their country. They want to be able to live in a country that is free.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

Regrets? Sure, but let's go on

In my opinion the two-arti- cles "The GUARDIAN was at best unusually interested to learn" and "WASHINGTON times..." reflect the attitudes of the majority of students. The GUARDIAN welcomes all letters to the editor, but requests that they not be longer than two double-spaced, typewritten pages. Letters to the editor will be edited in excess of this limit and will be subject to the policies of the editorial board. The GUARDIAN is a member of the College Press Network and the National Educational Advertising Service.

The GUARDIAN is published weekly by students of Wright State University. Opinions expressed herein are those of the respective students and are not necessarily re- flect the attitudes of the faculty or administration. The GUARDIAN welcomes all letters to the editor, but requests that they not be longer than two double-spaced, typewritten pages. Letters to the editor will be edited in excess of this limit and will be subject to the policies of the editorial board. The GUARDIAN is a member of the College Press Network and the National Educational Advertising Service.

The GUARDIAN is published weekly by students of Wright State University. Opinions expressed herein are those of the respective students and are not necessarily re- flect the attitudes of the faculty or administration. The GUARDIAN welcomes all letters to the editor, but requests that they not be longer than two double-spaced, typewritten pages. Letters to the editor will be edited in excess of this limit and will be subject to the policies of the editorial board. The GUARDIAN is a member of the College Press Network and the National Educational Advertising Service.

The GUARDIAN is published weekly by students of Wright State University. Opinions expressed herein are those of the respective students and are not necessarily re- flect the attitudes of the faculty or administration. The GUARDIAN welcomes all letters to the editor, but requests that they not be longer than two double-spaced, typewritten pages. Letters to the editor will be edited in excess of this limit and will be subject to the policies of the editorial board. The GUARDIAN is a member of the College Press Network and the National Educational Advertising Service.

The GUARDIAN is published weekly by students of Wright State University. Opinions expressed herein are those of the respective students and are not necessarily re- flect the attitudes of the faculty or administration. The GUARDIAN welcomes all letters to the editor, but requests that they not be longer than two double-spaced, typewritten pages. Letters to the editor will be edited in excess of this limit and will be subject to the policies of the editorial board. The GUARDIAN is a member of the College Press Network and the National Educational Advertising Service.
Women fight abortion, contraceptive laws in Florida

BY PATTY THURKAY

Shirley Wheeler has been convicted of manslaughter for having an abortion. Shirley Wheeler lives in Florida, and in Florida, abortion is the scold, slash, and dagger, murder. After she was convicted, she was asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have. Shirley Wheeler has been asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have.

She was asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have. Shirley Wheeler has been asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have.

Shirley Wheeler has been asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have. Shirley Wheeler has been asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have.

Shirley Wheeler has been asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have. Shirley Wheeler has been asked to explain and then deposed to the government. She was found with a catheter still in her back. The phone call, the blank stare, the poison pill... are not always what we want or not what we have or when we have them, or what we will have.
A woman's view (cont)

Page 4a

spiritual excitement to be gained with its use. Directed by a woman who knows where she wants to be stimulated, this little device can provide multiple achievements with very little arm strain. Next best is the woman's own hand. Further down the list is another person's tongue; and at the very bottom, another person's hand.

By all means, women should have as many clitoral orgasms as we wish, but I maintain—from my own experience, which though long, may not be universal—that when the clitoral potential has been exhausted there is still a whole—physical and spiritual—to be filled. And when it has been filled well, with peaks and exhilarated semen, satisfaction comes with a certain finality which I have never achieved before—a feeling of complete physical and emotional contentment.

It is as if the body has been saturated with love. This release may have more to do with orgasm than nerve endings (which we are advised by Masters and Johnson and others do not reside in the vagina) and perhaps that is why such a reaction is not electronically perceptible. Or it may have to do with a sense of security or of communication passing mental and nervous lines which simply do not happen under laboratory conditions.

The microscope does affect the organism (or organs) being observed, I believe such a spiritual release is also possible to man, over and above what they are satisfied to call "orgasm." That seldom occurs because of the sexual and emotional limitations imposed on them by our civilization.

Men frighten women with their aggressive and egotistical overtures. If the position were reversed and women came at men with force and promises and expectations of chastity and expectations of extraordinary prowess and demands for both beauty and instant relaxation and thrills and the danger of giving birth to children they couldn't feed or distasteful with the extra reward of the world splitting in their eyes for being "owned fathers," they might find it difficult to have an erection, must less come every time!

The Freudian dictum, apparently Simone de Beauvoir in "The Second Sex," that women should outgrow the need for clitoral climaxes in maturity is patently Victorian.

The clitoris is a thing of joy; I wouldn't be without it. And I do think, from my own experience again, it takes time for some women to receive satisfaction from screwing, but I do believe its inhibition in young girls is psychological. It just takes a hell of a long time to get over the feeling that you're a butterfly on the end of a pin—a feeling persisted by the ugly pretentiousness of the typical male approach.

Long love affairs or marriages in time can convince women that the aggressiveness of men is as permanent as the earth. It should not be possible to man, however well proves it, to discover the truth as I can come to the end of a pin—a feeling persist in their minds that a woman is not a man.

A woman's entire body must be involved in the sexual experience to make it complete for a woman, and men must also take into consideration the terrible beating her ego takes from society every day. This is why we frequently "neurotically" insist on assurances of love.

Sensitive women are often on the verge of self-destruction, feeling their quest for recognition for making a dent in anyone's consciousness to be hopeless. We were taught from childhood to admire love from other people and no other success will compensate. Indeed, so other success is likely to be achieved.

A woman's confidence on men is so intricately woven into a woman's every breath that perhaps some of my sisters are right when they say my insistence that there be more to every clitoral orgasm is counter-revolutionary. We must somehow extricate ourselves from this mesh of madness. A lie or a half-truth—many seem one way to do it.

But ultimately, we must rely on the truth—the whole truth—to set us free. As close to the truth as I can come is that we live in a world where all human enjoyment is threatened by an acquisitive system forcing us to mangle in the marketplace. All human beings must be more or less frigid in a robot-run society.

If our bread and water are contaminated and our country earns its livelihood from genocide, past and present, and women are regarded as legitimate subhuman prey by male creatures who call themselves men and colored peoples are used as beasts of burden by white creatures who call themselves human, than our love lives cannot be anything but grotesque shadows of what they should become. The insatiable search for variety in partners is probably symptomatic of male fright—sexual inability to become spiritually united, to fuse the physical with the psychological needs to abandon ourselves to the male of being close to another human being who can only begin to be appreciated in a lifetime of such moments.

Strange, it is means praise in their pantos and the performance thereof which gives them such confidence in their mental achievements, to the arts, for instance.

Keeping women, who in early years exhibit superior intellectual abilities, chained to mental chores and the fine craft of aggravating men's age, men can assure themselves that Beethoven is the final accomplishment in music, Shakespeare in poetry, Michelangelo in sculpture. Once women are released, man may discover unknown realms of beauty... If they are, indeed, able to appreciate them.

As for sex—like eating, like walking in fresh air, like all human activities—it should re-create us, help us to find one another, make us real and tangible as the earth. It should put us together again, body and soul, and male and female, in harmonious inter-course.
The struggle for women's liberation is the struggle for human liberation. For centuries, little girls have been told that they can someday grow up and become some man's wife. They have learned the joys of selflessness, they have accepted

"Sugar and spice and everything nice, that's what little girls are made of."---children's poem the fact that the right to make decisions for oneself is, at least for most, an occasional privilege. We have all been prostitutes, selling our lives to men, because there were no alternatives.

And for centuries, women have taken it lying down. They have stayed in the home, behind the man, behind the children, almost never making a direct contribution to society.

Women have been looked on as inferior beings, with smaller bodies, smaller and less productive brains, as mere sexual playthings who are perpetually immature. Women have been taught to be productive brains, as mere sexual playthings who are perpetually immature. "Women are still taught to be productive brains, as mere sexual playthings who are perpetually immature."

"The world of humanity has two wings, one is women and the other men. Not until both wings are equally developed can the bird fly. Should one wing remain weak, flight is impossible."---Bahá'u'lláh

"The laws of the old society, most of them, have changed now, but the consciousness still remains. Women are still taught to be mothers and wives first, and then, if they have time, they are allowed to pursue a career. Of course, the career is usually that of a secretary who not only types for her man but brings him coffee and cleans up his office as well, in the great tradition of servitude."

"Certainly, I think that any woman who wants to should have any job she is able to do. But I think a woman's real fulfillment is in the home. I know what a thrill it is for me and millions of other American men to come home at night to a woman like Pat."---Richard M Nixon

"Or maybe they can be "cleaning ladies," or welfare mothers, or divorcees, or nurses who must work to survive but can't find a decent job because of society's idea that women don't really need jobs anyway ("They've got men to support them"). And yes, the man has suffered, and are suffering, because of the stereotypes and silly rules we have developed. They have been taught to be strong, to compete, to take care of not only themselves, but their wives and children as well, if not allowed to cry like women are.

And because of this, they have developed more muscles, more heart attacks, have died of earlier ages. While women have either been sheltered into not living at all or oppressed into slavery, men have had responsibility and masculinity forced down their throats at every turn. It's not fair either way.

The problem is not so much the laws of the government as it is the attitudes of the people themselves—the attitudes of men and women. Perhaps children growing up are now getting less of the sexual conditioning that today's adults are; time is good. But the adults still have closed minds, and they must learn to change, and keep changing with society. The first step is to become aware of what you're doing, and why. Do you open doors for girls because you really want to, or because you think you have to? Or do you sit at home waiting for a guy to call you because that's really what you want? Wouldn't you rather call him?

Women's Liberation has a term for this kind of thinking—role conditioning that today's adults still have imposed on them.

"Women's Liberation has a term for this kind of thinking—role conditioning that today's adults still have imposed on them."

"The consciousness raising process has to change to fit the people, in some cases individuals, too, that individual problems are often part of a pattern. One more thing: just because this is about women's liberation, it is far from the whole experience, and it gives only a small sample of the ideas and feelings in the movement.

"Women's Liberation has a term for this kind of thinking—role conditioning that today's adults still have imposed on them.

The women in women's liberation are individuals, too, and one cannot speak for any of the others. Consider this just a small dose of a big deal.

"IT IS PAST TIME FOR WOMEN TO GAIN CONTROL OF THEIR OWN BODIES."

"Blessed art thou, O God, that has not created me a woman. . ."---Orthodox Jewish Prayer

"I'd rather be black than female."---Shirley Chisolm

"Am I a male chauvinist? Sure I'm a male chauvinist. I don't care."---Gary Roof, and millions of other males.

"How can he be clean who is born of females. . .?"---the Bible

"All a woman really needs is a good fuck."---Anonymous
CAPITALIZE ON THE MOST POWERFUL SALES INCENTIVE EVER DEIVED BY MAN:

"...we are displayed as consumable merchandise or often as attractive packaging for other merchandise, rather than as human beings with needs and desires of our own:"

WOMAN.

The myths about female sexuality:

A woman's view of the clitoris

BY LEAH FRITZ

Recently Masters and Johnson two uncompromising sexologists--one male and one female--have proved to their own satisfaction and with much corroboration from women who have read their findings, that the only way women can achieve sexual satisfaction is through the active stimulation of the clitoris, that small projection known as the "head" of the male penis. The scientists demonstrated this by electronically recording the reactions of subjects engaged in the sex act.

The rediscovery in America of the importance of the clitoris in female sexual pleasure is a boon to women's liberationists who have always insisted on the women's right to seek her own satisfaction actively, not merely to serve as a device for satisfying men.

Women now have something to demand from men in bed other than screwing because screwing will seldom produce a clitoral orgasm, in a recent Danish book called "I Accuse," the author, Mads Eikjensen, produced female witnesses to say they had never gotten anything out of simple sexual liaison courses, even with a routine amount of clitoral stimulation prior to sex. As a result, in other words, indications of female pleasure --groans, grunts, grins, moans, etc. which usually accompany and are all hinted at to assure men of their prowess. Women, who had not before been taught by the veiled to think of themselves as frigid (sometimes the statistics went as high as 90 per cent of American women) by the time they could "reach the clitoris" now had the long-awaited lust "near" to such thing as a vaginal orgasm exists, and any woman who claims to have experienced one is a phony!

Thus Masters and Johnson effectively squashed the myth of female frigidity. Every woman must be grateful to them for removing the psychological burden from our sex lives. If you can have a clitoral orgasm, you are not frigid; that term of contempt can no longer be applied to miserable female sexuality written under an unwelcome pen.

But, out of Masters and Johnson's discovery new questions arise; can the term "orgasm" be well-understood by men, adequately describe the female sexual response? Why must female pleasure be defined by male terminology?

There is a superficial resemblance between the clitoral reaction in women and the male climax. Both send a kind of shock through the body and deliver a certain release. But women do not, to my knowledge, and against the evidence of male written pornographic novels, ejaculate semen. And we are capable of having many clitoral climaxes in a row, each an improvement on the one before, so that the first release, rather than satiating us, often is just an appetizer for things to come!

Another fact of life the scientists might look into is that female potency seems to grow as we age, while male potency tends to diminish. After adolescence, it is likely that such "orgasms" are not so much produced by the increasing and decreasing pressures imposed by the woman, but produced by the increasing and decreasing pressures imposed by the man at different age levels. Still they should be checked out.

Many men in our society seem to be afraid and emotionally inhibited to an extreme. Emotional expressions such as tears which are permitted to men at different age levels. Still they should be checked out.

The culture controversy, though, has just begun. Oddly enough, I find myself personally in the middle of it. Or rather, in the counter-revolutionary side of it... which is even a stranger place for me to be.
Students, faculty serve on council

By Ron Paul

Many students at Wright State probably do not know much about the Academic Council. However, this body can affect students directly through the representation of students on the council.

The Academic Council is a student-faculty council that meets monthly to discuss university matters, including the budget, personnel and facilities. The Academic Council is a subcommittee of the University Senate, which, in turn, is a part of the Governing Council.

The Academic Council will be up for election Monday, Oct. 27, when students and faculty can express their opinions on issues affecting campus. Voting will take place during the meeting and includes all students and faculty members, including graduate students.

Cherie Elizabeth

Although the Academic Council has no direct influence over issues such as student affairs, it does provide a forum for students' concerns. The council provides a place for students to voice their opinions, and it encourages dialogue between students and faculty.

In addition, the council is an important resource for students who wish to express their views on campus issues. The council's representatives on the Senate provide a direct link between students and the governing body of the university.

The Academic Council has six members that serve three-year terms. Two of the council's positions are selected by the faculty and two by the student body. The remaining two positions are filled by the Student Affairs Committee. The faculty and student body representatives work closely with the council to ensure that the student perspective is represented.

In addition to its regular meetings, the council also holds open forums, which provide an opportunity for students to voice their concerns and ask questions directly to the council members. These forums are an important way for students to engage in the decision-making process and to participate in the governance of the university.

The Academic Council is an important part of the university's governance structure. It provides a means for students to have a voice in the decisions that affect their lives, and it fosters a sense of community and involvement on campus.

The Academic Council is an important part of the university's governance structure. It provides a means for students to have a voice in the decisions that affect their lives, and it fosters a sense of community and involvement on campus.

The Academic Council is an important part of the university's governance structure. It provides a means for students to have a voice in the decisions that affect their lives, and it fosters a sense of community and involvement on campus.

The Academic Council is an important part of the university's governance structure. It provides a means for students to have a voice in the decisions that affect their lives, and it fosters a sense of community and involvement on campus.
Soccer squad squashes Capital for second victory

Wednesday, October 27, 1971

The International Department hosted its second annual Fall competition last Friday, October 22nd, at the competition's location outside on the Campus. The soccer teams participated in the competition, which included the men's and women's teams. The competition featured multiple matches, with the final match being held on the soccer field.

Football standings

Turf: Wooden Apprentice (as of 10-27-71, 11:00 pm)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>T</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>H</th>
<th>F</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Green League</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Left</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Right</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Center</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The North</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The South</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The East</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The West</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Midwest</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Southeast</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Northwest</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Pacific</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The America</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Asia</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Africa</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Europe</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Australia</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Soccer team members express concern about the on-field performance of one of the teams, Manhattan Capital University. Despite the last match's outcome being the best of the season, several players on the soccer field commented on the performance of the Manhattan Capital team. The game was described as thrilling, with the Manhattan Capital team outplaying the other teams in the competition. The final score was 1-0, with Manhattan Capital winning.

Free Peanut Dressage

The Dressage team was unscathed in the last test, scoring 1-0 against Manhattan Capital University. The team members expressed concern about the on-field performance of one of the teams, Manhattan Capital University. Despite the last match's outcome being the best of the season, several players on the soccer field commented on the performance of the Manhattan Capital team. The game was described as thrilling, with the Manhattan Capital team outplaying the other teams in the competition. The final score was 1-0, with Manhattan Capital winning.

JUNKLE SAMM'S

Dayton's New College In Spot

820 LINDEN AVENUE

Every Wednesday Night - Ladies Night

"EDE"

Thursday Night - Beer Blast

-KASPER-

Fri, Sat & Sun Night

"Danharrow"

Next Sunday - Beer Blast

- FREE PEANUTS -