

The Murdered Lover

Say a mass for my soul's repose, my brother,

Say a mass for my soul's repose, I need it,

Lovingly lived we, the sons of one mother,

Mine was the sin, but I pray you not heed it.

Dark were her eyes as the sloe and they called me,

Called me with voice independent of breath.

God! how my heart beat; her beauty appalled me,

Dazed me, and drew to the sea-brink of death.

Lithe was her form like a willow. She beckoned,

What could I do save to follow and follow,

Nothing of right or result could be reckoned;

Life without her was unworthy and hollow.

Ay, but I wronged thee, my brother, my brother;

Ah, but I loved her, thy beautiful wife.

Shade of our father, and soul of our mother,
Have I not paid for my love with my life?

Dark was the night when, revengeful, I met you,
Deep in the heart of a desolate land.

Warm was the life-blood which angrily wet you
Sharp was the knife that I left from your hand.

Wept you, oh, wept you, alone by the river,
When my stark carcass you secretly sank.
Ha, now I see that you tremble and shiver;
'T was but my spirit that passed when you shrank!

Weep not, oh, weep not, 't is over, 't is over;
Stir the dark weeks with the turn of the tide;
Go, thou has sent me forth, ever a rover,
Rest and the sweet realm of heaven denied.

Say a mass for my soul's repose, my brother,

Say a mass for my soul, I need it.

Sin of mine was it, and sin of no other,

Mine was it all, but I pray you not heed it.
