The U.S. Government: A Puppet of Corporate America

• Have you ever noticed that congress has only a 20% approval rating?

• Have you ever wondered, “why should we have to choose from the lesser of two evils?” when looking at your candidate options?

• Why do corporations offer huge donations to politicians?

• Is your government doing the right thing for the American people, or their donors?
Bernie Sanders and the DNC Scandal

In 2016 we saw leaks confirming the suspicion of favoritism within the Democratic Party

Money laundering to the Clinton Campaign with cash meant for down ticket Dems.

Bernie Sanders currently has a 75% approval rating overall, higher than any other politician in America

- In 2014 Midterm elections 94% of candidates who outspent their opponents won
- Since 1998 every election costs more than the last

The way to win elections is through rich people, and rich people don't support grassroots / independent candidates
Corporations For Corruption

• Politicians receive donations from corporations, then in return do the bidding of their donors

• Senator Cory Booker who receives donations from Big Pharma, shot down bill that lowered drug prices for American consumers

• Many CEO’s buy their way into a government position

• CEO of ExxonMobil, Rex Tillerson, was appointed as Secretary of State in the Trump administration.

• Tillerson opposed section 1504 of Dodd-Frank,
An “Alternative” Way

- Alternative Voting System
- Instead of 2 candidates, you have multiple options to where your vote can go
- Voters more likely to vote 3rd party, without fear of wasting vote.
- Without money in the system, establishment influences would be cut down to a minimum
- We have to reform the system with new policies to ensure that we are a government by the people, of the people, and for the people
